

Harcum College Library Lodestar Index, September 2004-Spring 2010

The Harcum College Library Lodestar has now been published for six academic years. Because past issues, starting with October 2004, are available in full-text on our web site, this index has been created to lead you to cover stories, feature articles and profiles that you may have missed and would like to read. All articles are listed by category in chronological order, except for staff profiles (which are alphabetical by last name.) The September 2004 issue is only available in hard copy in the Library archives, indicated by “arch” in the index below. We hope you’ll want to discover or revisit some of our previous stories!

Starting in the 2007-2008 academic year, Lodestar began publishing on a three issue a year schedule. The September issue each year is an updated version of our "special edition," which summarizes key information about library staff and how to use the library to best advantage.
