* In addition to the point system above, there will be room for discussion and other issues that may arise which can be addressed. This will enable the College to be consistent with the evaluation process. The committee will evaluate each application and the total number of points for the applicant. Once all committee members have evaluated the applicant's credentials, then the points will be averaged together to come up with a final total for the applicant. After this process is completed, the committee decides a minimum score for acceptance into the program.
